World Trade Organization

The annual Trade Profiles has been expanded to cover key data on both trade in goods and services. This new edition incorporates Services Profiles, which was previously published separately. Each profile provides the most important indicators for trade in goods, including major imports and exports, and a breakdown of trade in services. Data is provided in a handy double-page format for each of the 180 economies covered by the publication. Tabular data is complemented by charts illustrating the key information.
